GHN-Online and TriHealix Announce Partnership for Point-of-Sale Payer Reimbursement and Patient Payment

Collaboration Gives Healthcare Practitioners Proactive and Detailed Visibility into Revenue Cycle

Dallas, Texas and Norwalk, Connecticut — August 20, 2008 — GHN-Online, the healthcare industry's leading provider of real-time revenue cycle management solutions, and TriHealix, innovating integrated platforms for medical claims and financial transactions, today announced a partnership that will provide healthcare practitioners point-of-sale visibility into payer reimbursement and patient payment. The terms of the agreement include reciprocal reselling of products and services to healthcare practitioners and payers as well as the development of new healthcare revenue-cycle management and reimbursement solutions.

“TriHealix and GHN technologies are completely complementary and reflect the consumer-centric evolution of the healthcare claims industry,” said Azadeh Farahmand president and CEO of GHN-Online. “Consumers need information at the point of care and providers need to be paid at the time services are rendered. Using the TriHealix platform, we will be able to give GHN customers visibility into patient payment estimates in real-time. This capability combined with GHN’s ability to deliver clean healthcare claims creates an unprecedented solution in the healthcare claims industry that simultaneously and accurately addresses patient and provider needs.”

“GHN is expert in claims scrubbing and data management,” noted Greg Morris, president and CEO of TriHealix. “Moreover, GHN shares our commitment to enhanced transparency with its detailed analytics and reporting features. GHN’s Visum gives TriHealix a technology for claims-specific data exchange with the ability for real-time data transactions between multiple payers and providers. The GHN/TriHealix partnership will take the collection process out of the back office and move it up front to the point of service, resulting in proactive claims processing and payment.”
